

PRESS RELEASE

3rd Meeting of project Egov_INNO Western Greece and Puglia join forces to deliver services to SMEs Patras, 10-11 July 2019

The 3rd meeting of the project “egov_INNO – E-government services and tools from regional governments and regional development bodies to support and coordinate the regional research and innovation capital”, that was funded with 722.208,14€ from the INTERREG V-A Greece-Italy Programme 2014-2020, took place at Patras on 10 and 11 July 2019, in Computer Technology Institute and Press “DIOPHANTUS” Premises.

Lead beneficiary is the Regional Development Fund of Region of Western Greece, while the project partners are: Computer Technology Institute and Press “Diophantus”, Innova Puglia S.P.A. and Apulia Region.

The project aims to deliver effective and feasible G2B e-government applications tailored to the needs of the participating Regions leading to better governance and faster delivery of services to the local private sector.

During project meeting, the plan for the development of G2B e-services, the development of cross-border inno-barometer platform and the boost of the innovation cycle were discussed.

There was also a useful meeting and think-tank based discussion, with stakeholders (Regional government, SMEs representatives and Academia) on the project results so far and the next steps.

The conclusion was that the project is being executed within its schedules. Additional the applications that are planned and developed are expected to enhance the market intelligence on both territories, as well as the increase of the capacity of businesses and innovation stakeholders to utilize the available innovation support services and clusters/networks.
